

Webinaire “Entrepreneurship and Health: a challenging new field of research” organized by Revue de l'Entrepreneuriat, Sherbrooke University (Québec), Erasmus University (Rotterdam), Montpellier University and Montpellier Business School (France), in partnership with AEI, Labex Entreprendre and Observatoire Amarok.

Date: Wednesday March 15, 2023 (Time zone ET, Québec, Canada)

10h00-10h05: Revue de l'Entrepreneuriat Introduction

Bérangère Deschamps, Editor-in-Chief of the Revue de l'Entrepreneuriat
Céline Barredy, Editor-in-Chief of the Revue de l'Entrepreneuriat

10h05-10h10: Presentation of the special issue “Entrepreneurship and Health: a challenging new field of research”

Florence Guiliani, Sherbrooke University
Roy Thurik, Erasmus University, Montpellier Business School
Olivier Torrès, Montpellier Université de, Montpellier Business School

10h10-11h00: Presentation of the papers

Alexandra Moritz, University of Applied Sciences Koblenz, and Trier University (joint work with Joern H. Block, José M. Millán, and Juan D. Ramos-Poyatos),
Working hours, working time flexibility and stress at work of different types of entrepreneurs.

Martina Battisti, Grenoble Ecole de Management (joint work with Isabella Hatak and Haibo Zhou), Rumination and Entrepreneurial Well-being: It's Complicated!

Jana Thiel, ETH Zürich (joint work with Nathan Smith and Robert Wuebker), Entrepreneurial teams and individual well-being

Mi Hoang Tran, Syracuse University, Whitman School of Management (joint work with Johan Wiklund, Melissa Luke, Kevin Antshel and Derron Hilt),
Research on the association between physical and psychiatric disabilities and entrepreneurial intention among college students.

The organizers: Florence Guiliani, Roy Thurik and Olivier Torrès